“Hosting someone equates to being responsible for their happiness the entire time they are under your roof.”

Brillat-Savarin

you want

- To organise an event which takes your clients' needs into account.
- The support of a Franco-British agency.
- To surprise your guests with a creative event.
- To find an unusual location, preferably unique.
- To enjoy a service of the highest quality with negotiated prices.
- To build client loyalty thanks to a successful event.

you can see yourself

- Working with an agency which understands your environment and your needs.
- Having access to current event trends.
- Being able to rely on a team of professionals who can manage and deal with everything and anything, allowing you to spend quality time with your guests with total peace of mind.
- Reaching your targets and boosting your reputation: generating new business, closing a deal, team building or team thanking, celebrating a special day...

Franco-British, I grew up in Africa and England before I moved to Paris which I fell in love with! Passionate about the arts and gastronomy, ever since I arrived, I have scoured the capital in order to discover new places, new trends and innovative concepts. I need to feed my imagination so as to better serve my profession: as an event organiser.

In the last 25 years, I have worked in hospitality and with international corporate law firms, organizing almost 500 public relations events. Throughout the years, I have developed a sense for high-end services which are fundamental when it comes to ensuring a successful client event.

With all this experience and my imagination overflowing with ideas, how could I resist the urge not only to become independent, but also to offer my own clients a finely tuned creativity accompanied with a watchful eye... a unique eye?

Consequently, in 2012, I founded my own events agency which offers its know-how to corporate entities demanding high level quality, and ever since, together with a team of specialized partners, I offer my services between Paris and London, via Munich and Barcelona with the sole aim of creating a long-lasting memory of a naturally transient moment.
